THIS IS ST. MARY'S IN '62 . .

'62—A YEAR . .

. . . when a new star appears in her heavens . . .

. . . when another corner-stone is conceived . . .

. . . when a rededication confirms old principles

. . . the reflection of the "ancient beauty, ever old and ever new."

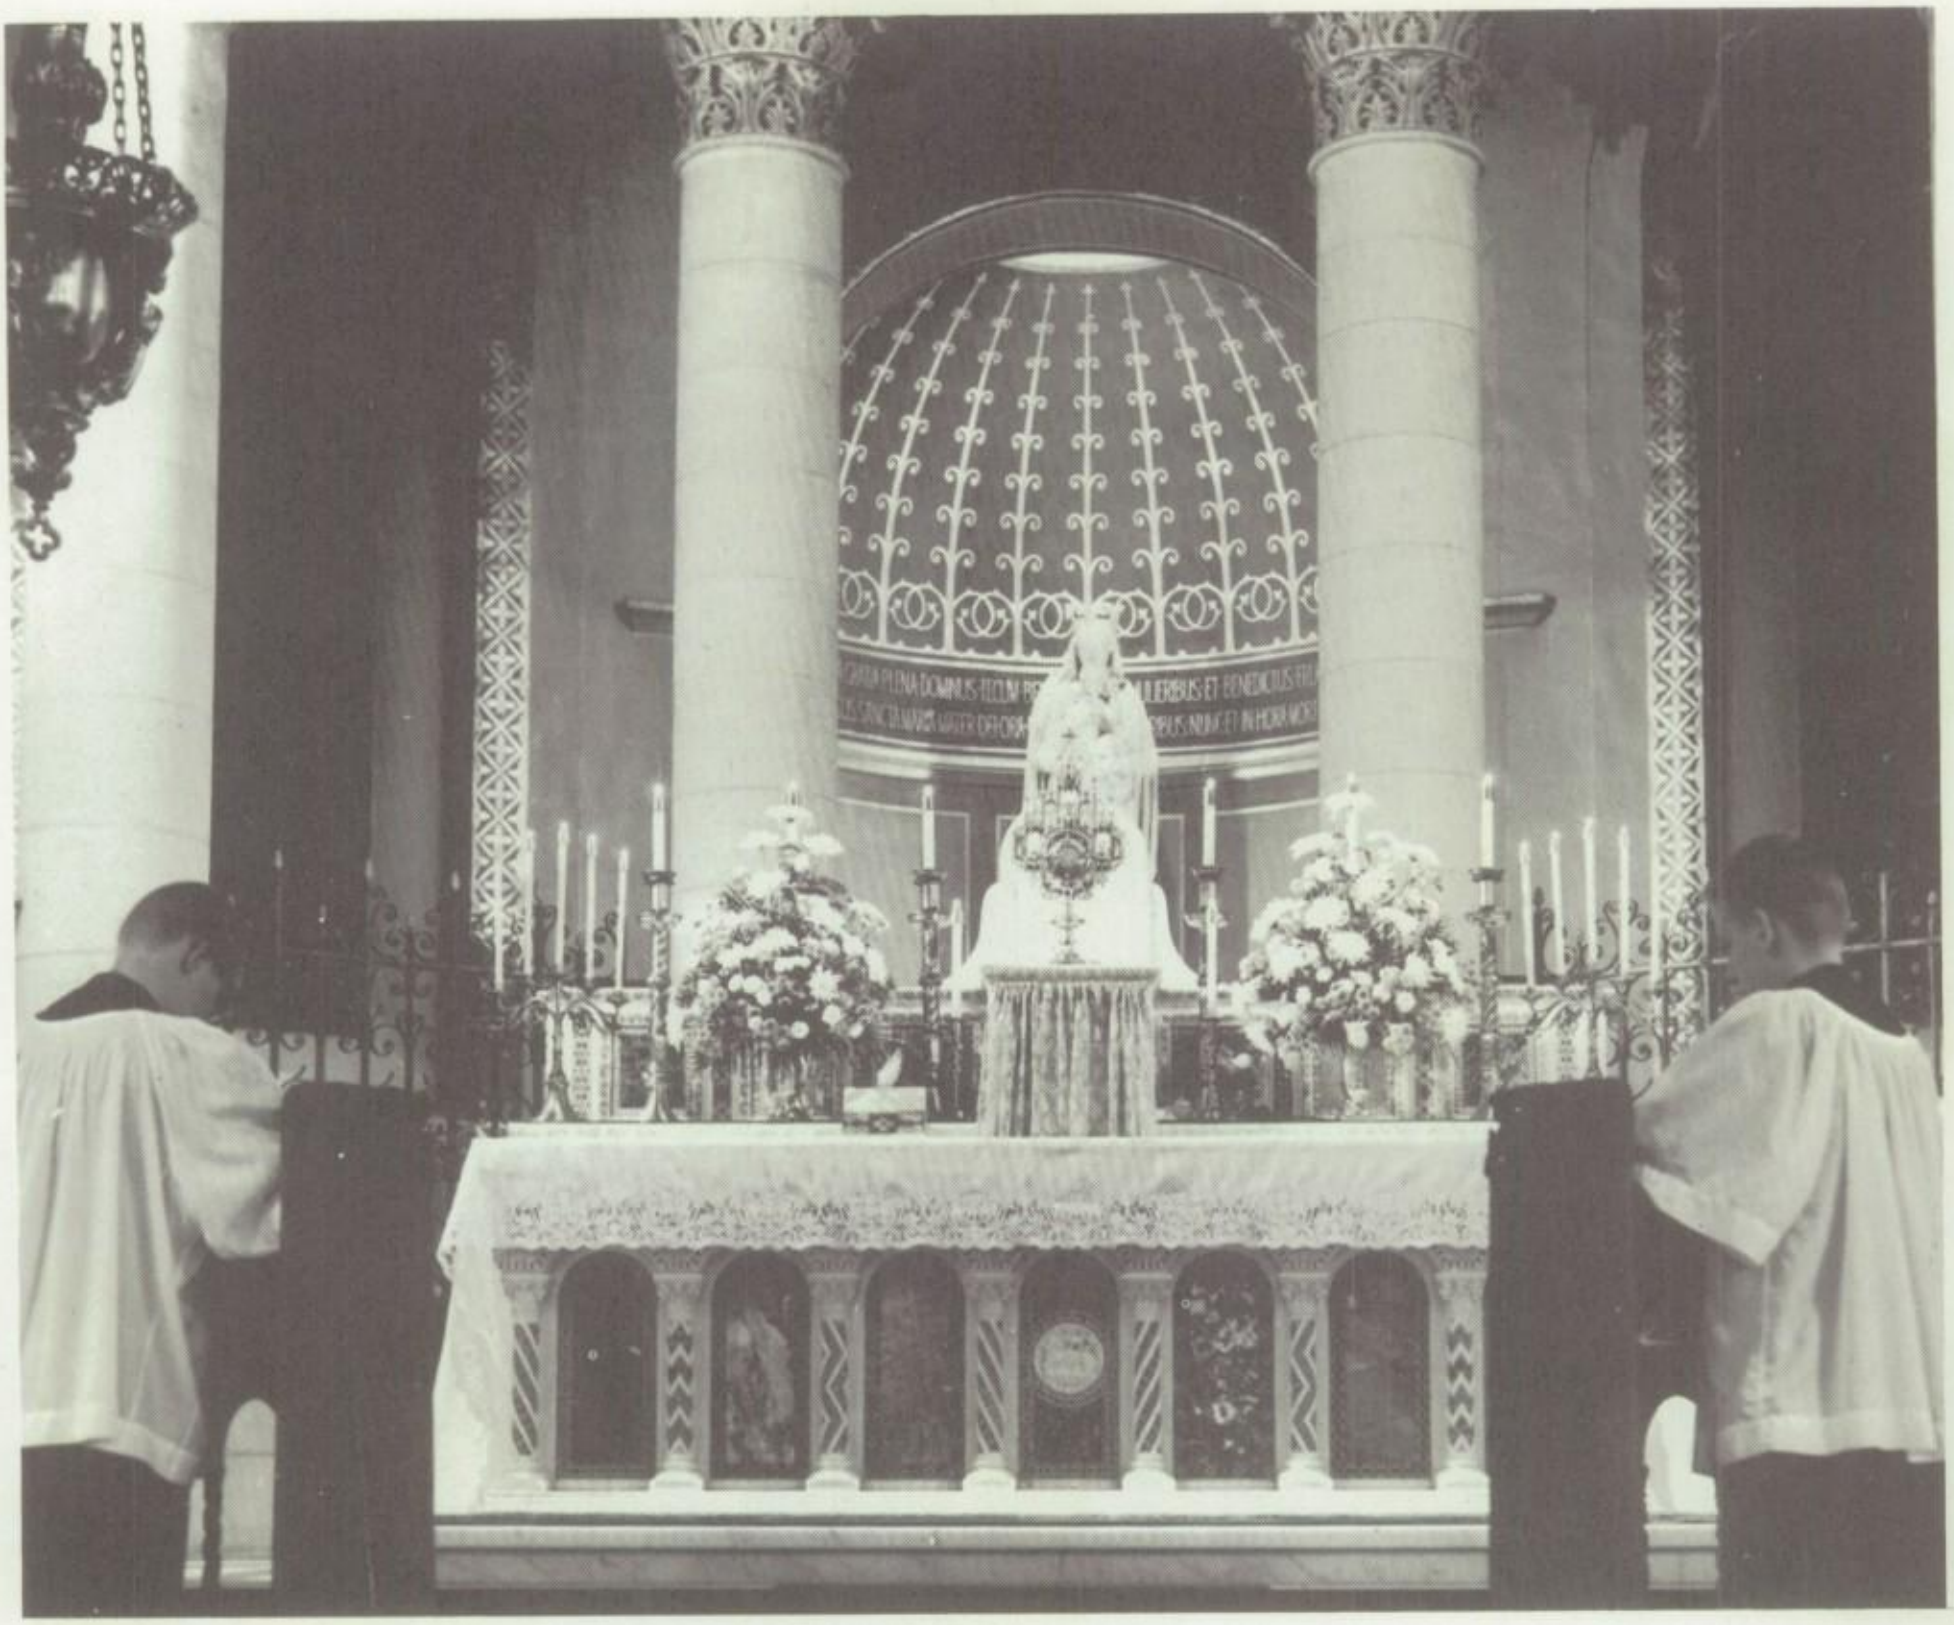
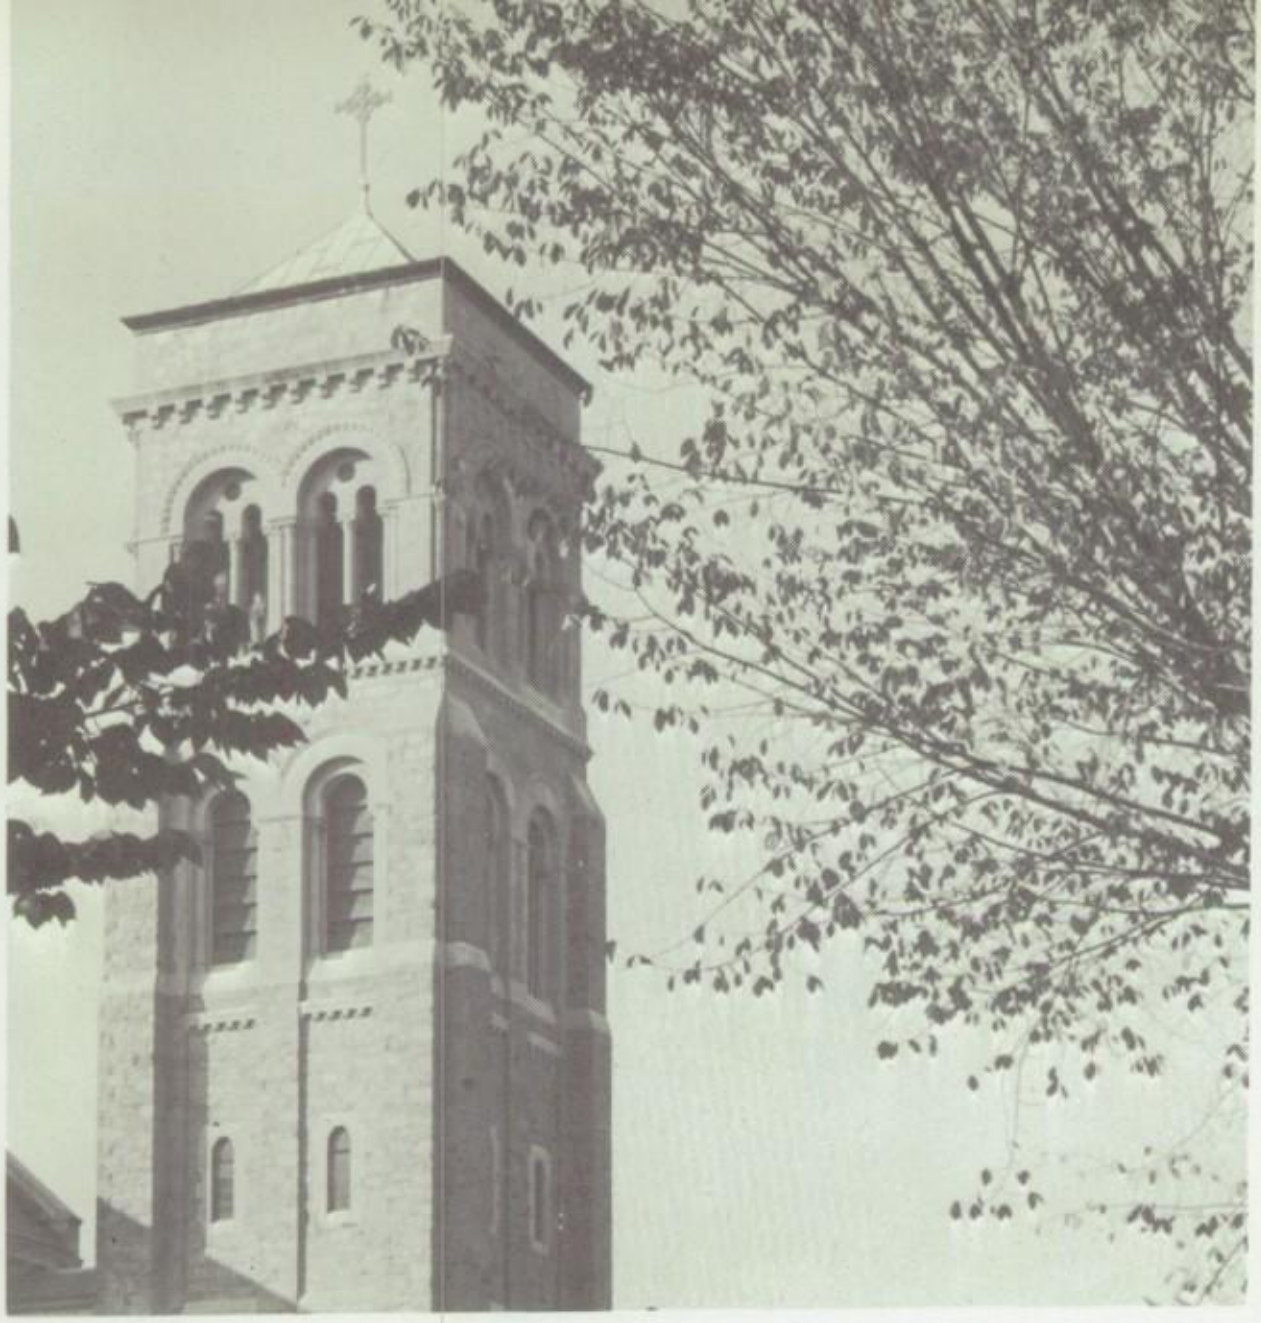
St. Augustine



ST. MARY'S . . .

may she always be a Bethlehem to her people . . .

a "House of Bread" . . .



. . . "a pillar

. . . "a pillar of fire
by night".

Exodus XIV. 21.

THE RIGHT REVEREND MONSIGNOR EDWARD J. HICKEY P.A., PH.D.

Our Future is Guided by . . .

REV. J. EDWARD SEIFEN

REV. THOMAS F. CULLEN

The students of St. Mary of Redford wish to express their gratitude to Monsignor Hickey and the assistant priests for the solicitude and care shown them . . . for the many hours spent in general supervision and individual guidance . . . for hours in the classrooms . . . and for the many opportunities provided them for attendance at Mass and the reception of the sacraments.

REV. JOSEPH HRABOVSKY

REV. RICHARD A. OSEBOLD

. . . As we see them everyday

Msgr. Hickey is always vitally interested in our school life and presides at many of our important functions. He is pictured here with the senior class officers: William Wright, Karen Hemming, Msgr. Hickey, Patricia Connelly, and Michael Mullane.

Msgr. Hickey and Fr. Seifen enjoy the happy "turn out" on homecoming day. If at all possible, Monsignor always leads the parade.

Fr. Hrabovsky's ready wit and humorous comments never fail to attract an interested audience.

Fr. Cullen, in his usual genial mood, gives a J. A. (Junior Achievement) salesman some friendly encouragement.

Academic Activity

A LIFE shaped around right convictions is secure,

purposeful,

and joyful.

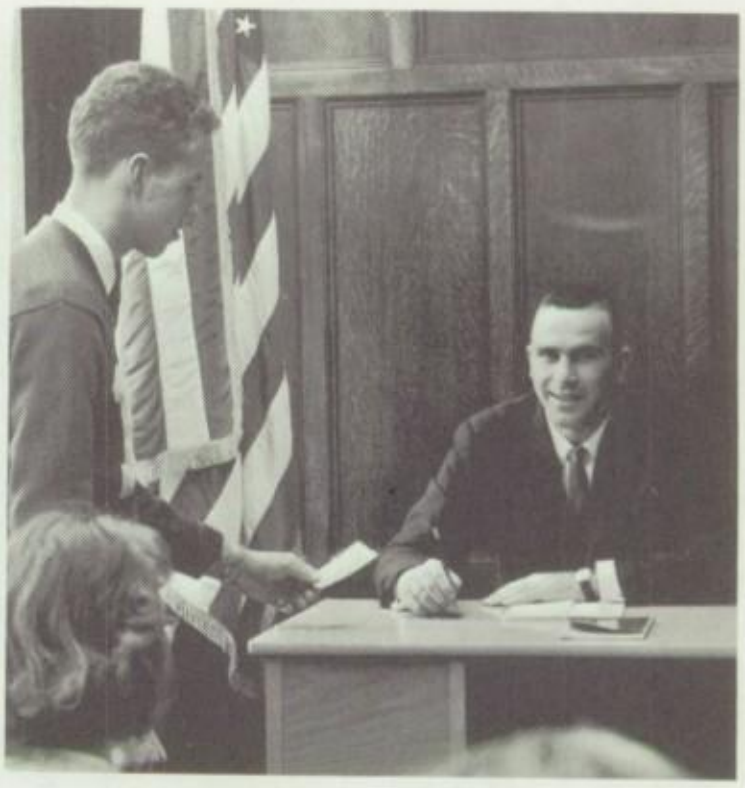
Bruce Brorby leads the school in prayer during the Church Unity Octave.

The great challenges of life which the future is bound to bring to the seniors will be met with more confidence because of the able instruction of Reverend Father Seifen and our four senior teachers. Most of the year's work is devoted to apologetics, the study of the sacrament of matrimony, and communism.

Preparation for the modern Christian challenge is also given in our social science classes. We learn of our great heritage, as well as the views and backgrounds of other peoples. Governmental procedure is well taught together with the duties and rights of citizenship. If people would learn from history, what lessons they could learn.

The religion class of Room 322 discusses one of the many interesting topics of the senior religion course.

Mr. Tramski's economics class studies an enlarged income tax form.



Mr. Tramski is noted for his versatility. He is an excellent coach, teacher, and disciplinarian.

Mr. Galante and his American history students enjoy the rural atmosphere of an old time schoolhouse in the Historical Museum. Frist Row: John Altenburg, Mark Hardwick, Mr. Galante. Second Row: Richard Devault, James Stechschulte, John Slicker. On the dunces stool: Ray O'Grady.

Walter Pedreyra, an exchange student from Uraguay, relates some of his country's history to Mr. Galante and his history class.

Language Studies

Bruce Brorby and Carloyn Abdoo present a trophy to Mother Francis Ellen. The Latin Division won this award for excellence in Latin.

Literature comes to life through film Peter Coonen and James Rudel operate the projector.

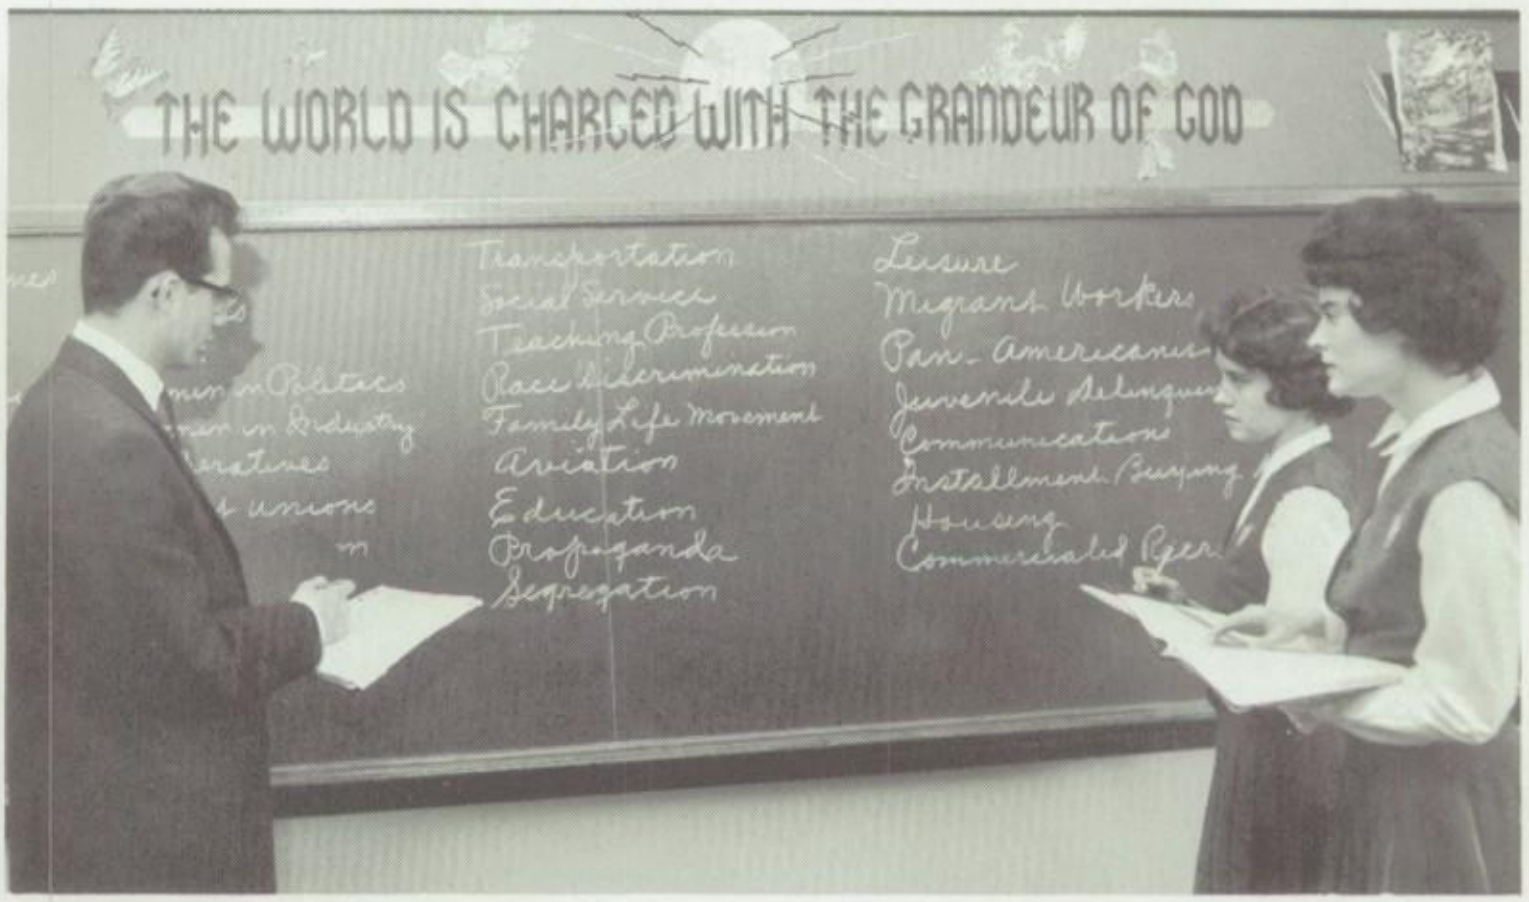
Ellen O'Regan, Theresa Cronin and Bruce Brorby examine some new books in the library.

bring ample rewards

Ronald Dawes, through the facilities of the language lab, increases his knowledge of French.

The French conversation class carries on a business transaction in French. Participating: Marjorie McCarthy, David Witucki, Michael Albus, Joan Fraley, William Trudeau, Carolyn Abdoo, Christine Stark.

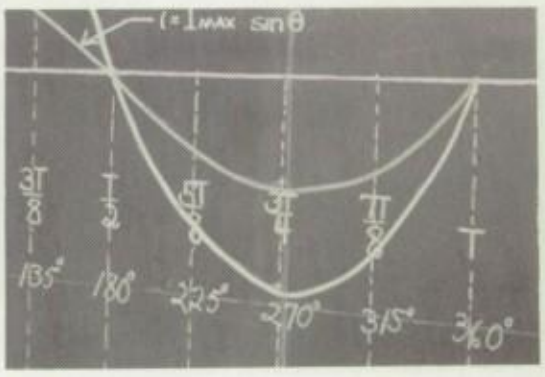


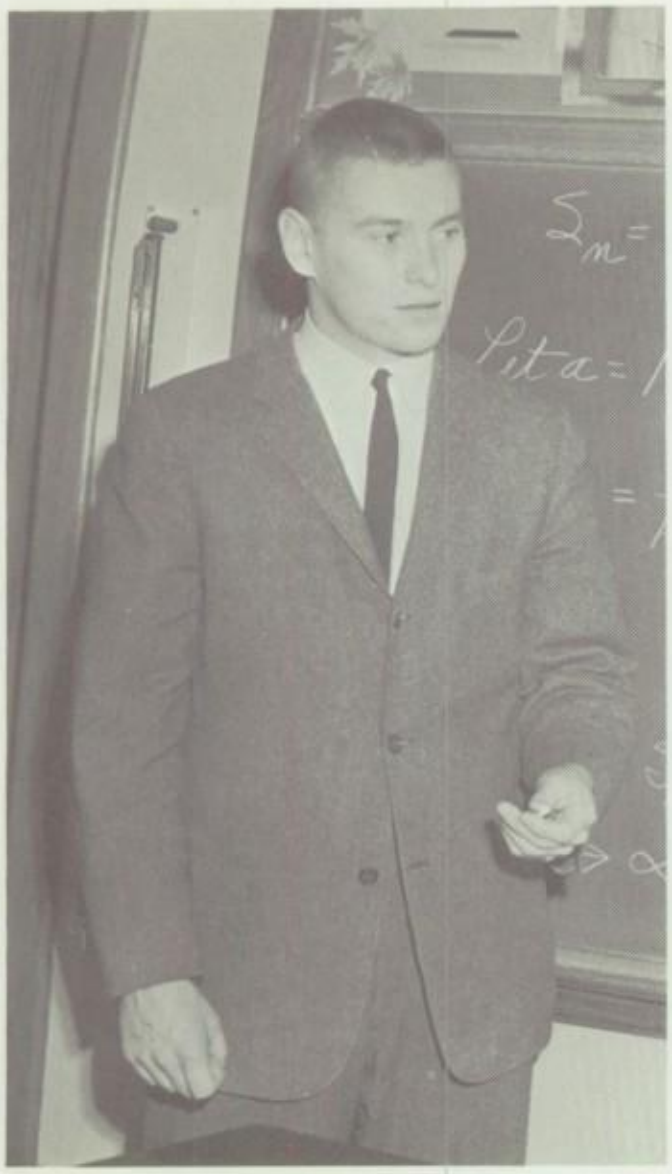
Robert Olsen, Marie Breitenbeck, and Patricia Donovan select a topic for the annual term paper.

Seniors, Karen Dean, Mary Sue Lobocki, and Walter Jordan work with Bunsen burners and test tubes

Senior biologists, James Carlin and Raymond O'Grady view forms of microscopic life.

Mathematics and Science are Co-partners





Mr. Spicer who teaches math and science, explains logarithms to his second year algebra class.

James Downey, John McComas, and Ronald Bush show the relationship between science and math while tracing the sine curve developed by the alternating current circuits.

The drafting classes learn the detailed techniques of mechanical drawing. Drafting is the language of both the shop and engineering.

Commercial Training Counts for Success

Mrs. Hasset instructs Carol Brown, Kathleen Whorley, and Robert Breault in the correct use of the dictaphone and adding machine.

Since the use of modern office equipment will soon be a part of their everyday work, the students of St. Mary's are being well trained in its use. The addition of these courses does not mean the withdrawal of the traditional commercial subjects such as shorthand, typing, business math, and bookkeeping, because a knowledge of these is necessary to operate the modern office equipment.

In the past few years the trend toward business education has become increasingly evident. As a result, more students are prepared for immediate employment after graduation from high school. The business world would be definitely handicapped if it were not for the knowledge and skills acquired by the future typists, stenographers, and bookkeepers in these courses. Because of the number of students enrolled in these classes, the business offices of the future should have excellent, well-trained employees.

The shorthand class transcribe their letters on the typewriter.

Hopeful, future secretaries diligently practice their office skills.

The bookkeeping class studies a diagram. Seated are Robert Nagrant and Robert Scully, and standing are Nancy Alcini, Nancy Machniak, and Leon Narozny.

Senior typists, Judith Swanson and Patricia Fuller carefully watch the typing progress chart, keeping in mind the awards to be given out at the end of the year. Other names appearing on this chart that are also in line for possible honors are Ellen Wiesmeyer, Mary Ellen Ostenfeld, Alice Probe, Marlene Lipski, JoAnn Strauch, Agnes Daly, and Judith Fuller. Both speed and skill are required to obtain these honors.

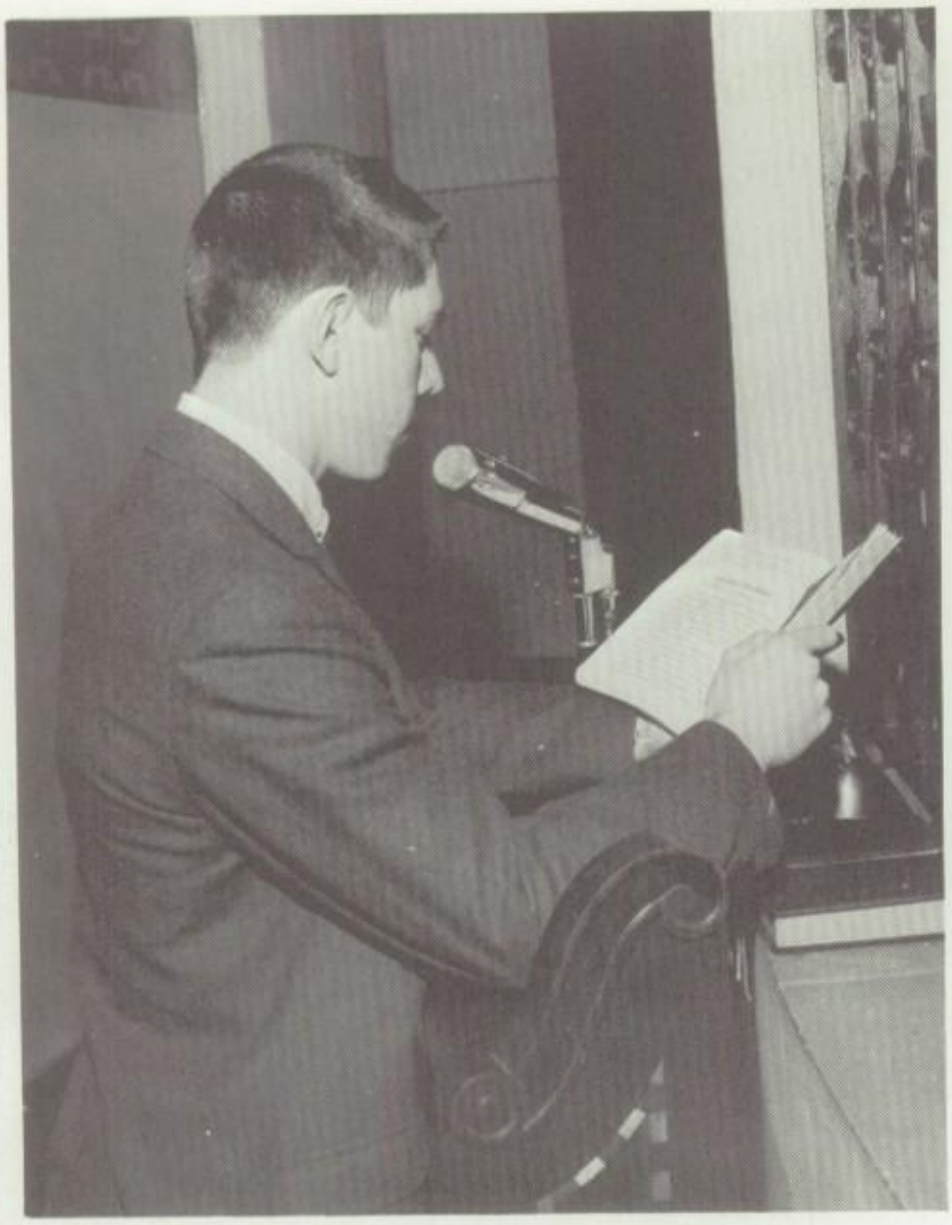
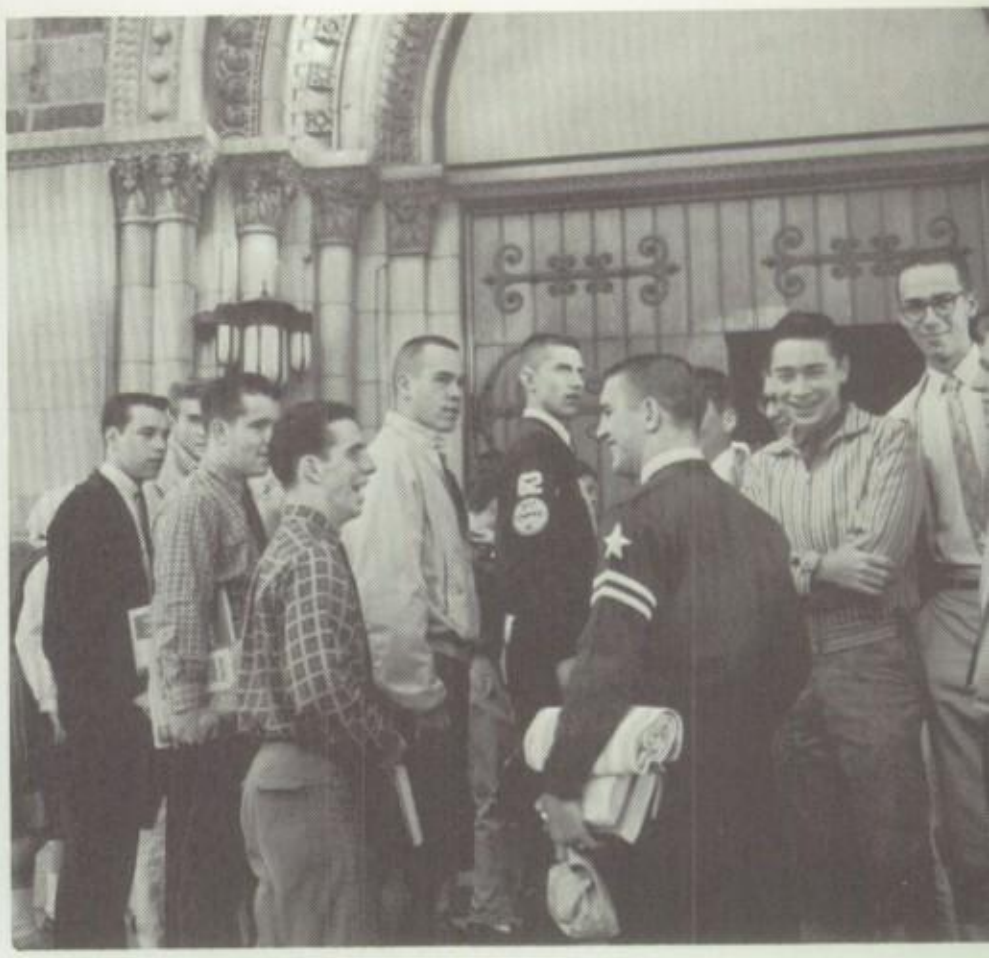
Religious Activity



Michael Mullane, Senior president, narrates the Mass.



To serve the Lord with joy: Dennis Predhomme, Anthony Patrick, James Slicker, John Slicker, William Flowers. Rennie Crabtree, William Wright, Dennis Hillen, Daniel Zinnikas, Donald Green.

All participate in the community Mass through song and response.

Our School prays and sings

Special effort was made this year to assist the students to participate more actively in the Mass. It is the mind of the Church, that those who attend, take an active part in this greatest of Dramas. Simple, impassive spectator watching is not desirable.

A set of booklets entitled "Our Parish Prays and Sings" was purchased for each homeroom. A religion period a week was reserved for practice. In order to make these practices realistic, they were held in church, with either Sister Marie Clotilde or Father Osebold directing, and Mr. Peeters at the organ.

Singing the liturgy is singing the word of God, as the angels did on the first Christmas.

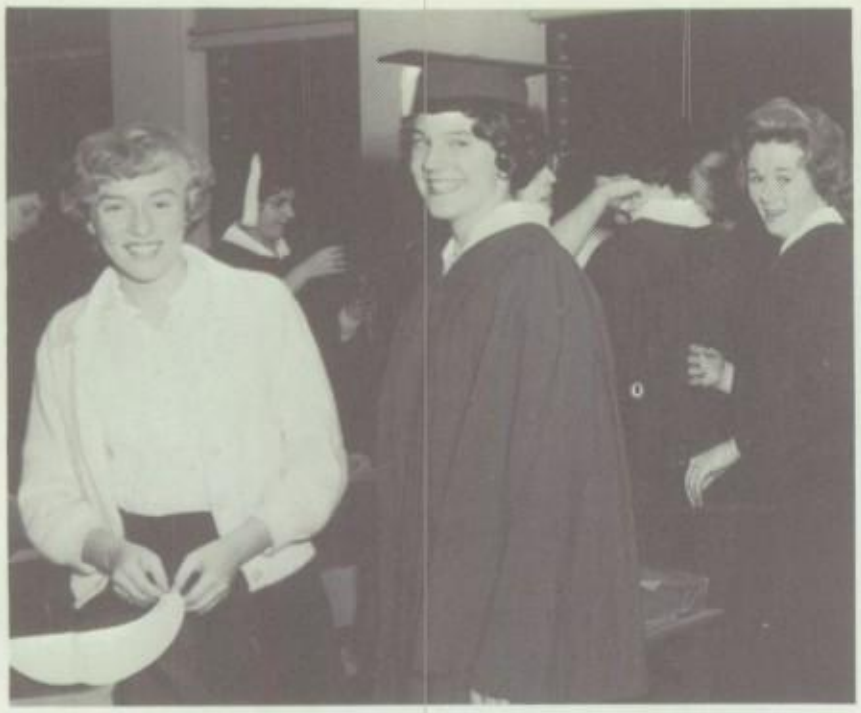
The Crowning group, chosen by the girls of the senior class, hails Mary as our parish patroness as they consecrate themselves to her.

December 8th— An old Tradition for new Seniors

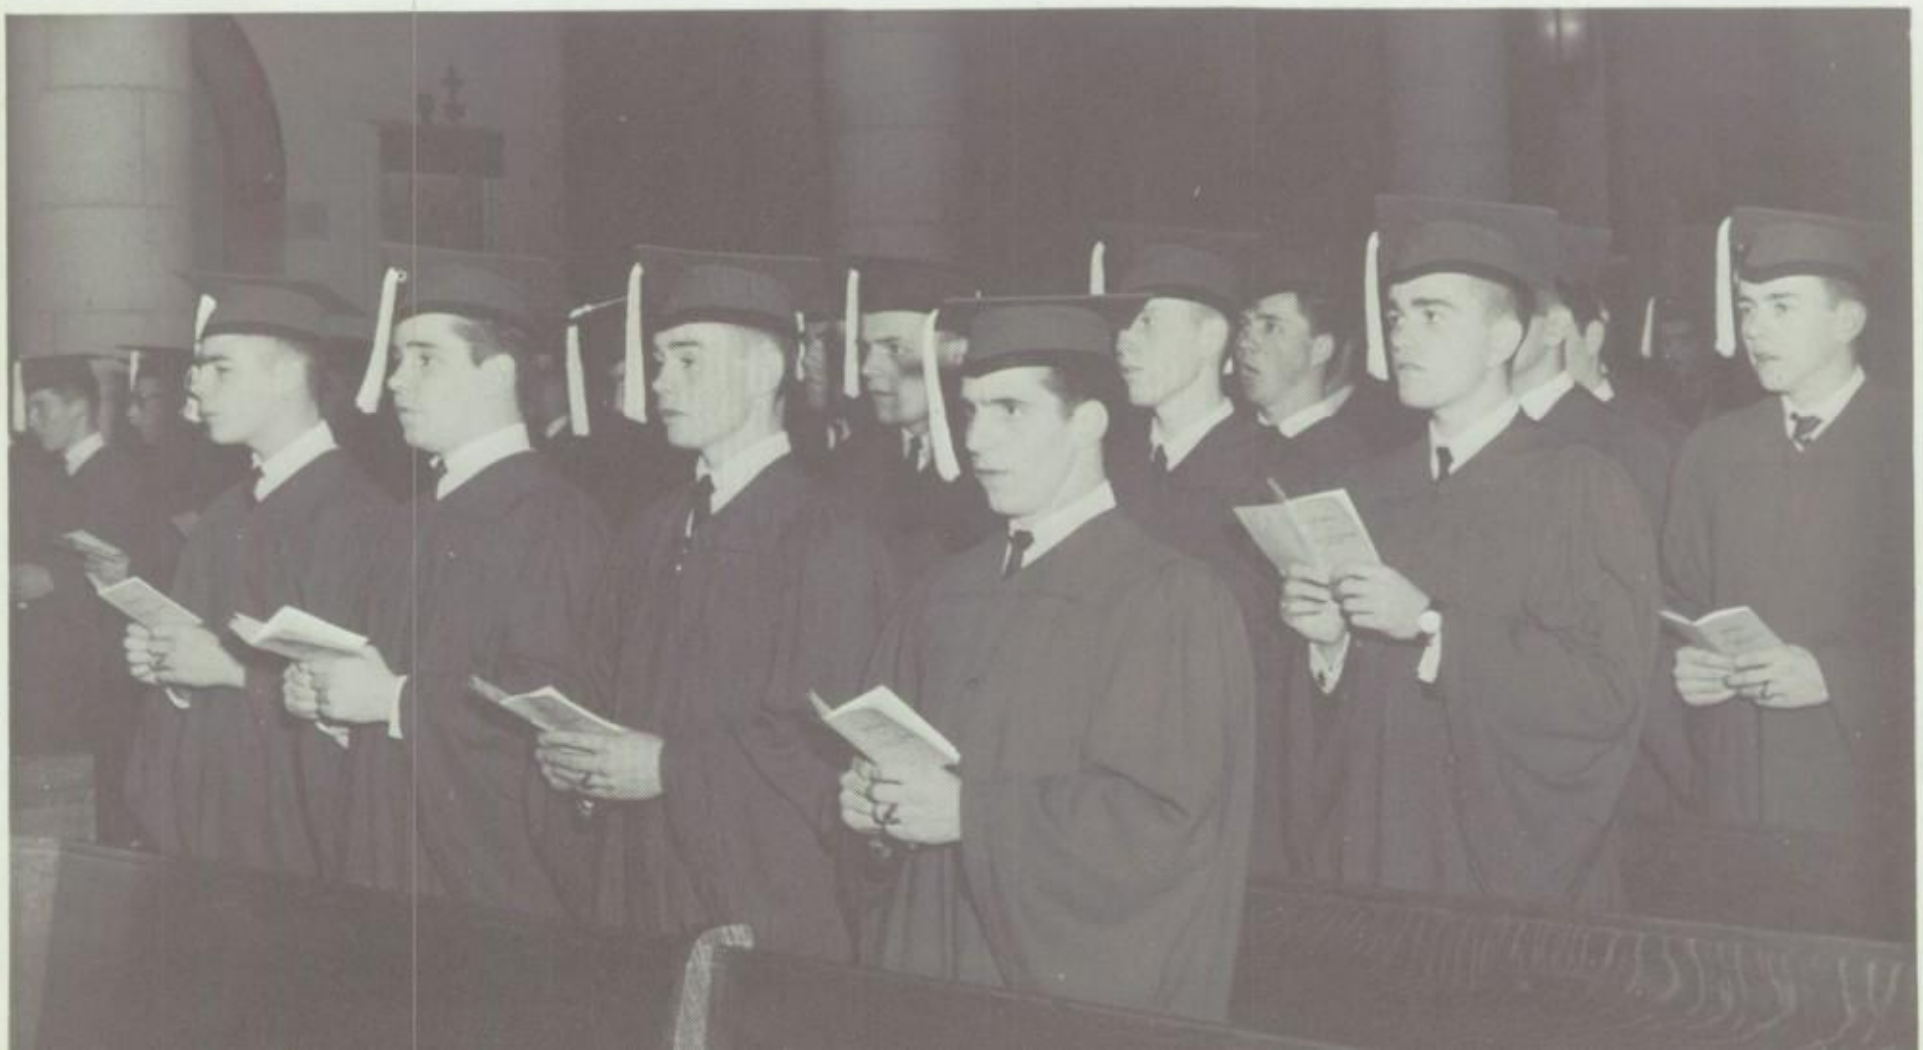


Excited seniors of Room 319, prepare for an important evening. They are: Sandra Bartlett, Cecilia Farkas and Patricia Fitzgerald.

The long awaited moment arrives when the proud parents see their sons and daughters in cap and gown.

The members of the court are Lynn O'Connor, Marie Breitenbeck, Kathleen Knecht (crowning queen), Diana Stimac, and Michele LaForest.

The boys sing the praises of the "Star Crowned Virgin," as they await their consecration to her Immaculate Heart. This occasion fulfills a tradition which originated at St. Marys in 1928. It closes the December 8th novena and becomes a lasting memory for each senior. Front Row: James Sally, James Slicker, William Quinn, John Slicker, Richard Wickert, and Thomas Sloan.



Thomas Rivard, William Wright, and Richard Wickert carol at the convent.

William Wright, dressed in the everyday costume of sixty-odd years ago, sings an old-fashioned carol in traditional style.

"Twas the Birthday of the King."

The Honor Choral, under the direction of Sister Mary Clotilde, sings a gay medley of Christmas Carols. Mary Sue Lobocki accompanies the carolers on the piano. The make-believe castle in the background is part of a toyland setting.

Thomas Rivard, soloist of the Honor Choral

The age-old pageant of the birth of Christ is solemnly portrayed by the students of St. Mary's. Sally Blaesser plays the Virgin role, Thomas Radecke St. Joseph.

"From all

Patricia Ostrowski and Charles Haas, junior officers, place the usual white rose bouquet before one of Our Lady's shrines for December 8th, the great feast of the Immaculate Conception.

Father O'Malley, S. J., conducted the novena services during the December 8th novena.

of These, I have Chosen Thee"

One of the glories of St. Mary's is the number of vocations she has given the Church. Yet her vocational methods are neither extraordinary nor unique. As a long range plan she simply promotes a strong filial devotion to Mary Immaculate, a sense of dedication and vocation in whatever life is chosen, a respect for duty and a ready acceptance of God's Will.

During the month of March special effort is made to acquaint the students with all of the works of the Church and the religious orders engaged in them. March 8th, Father Brunett, one of the vocation directors, spent the day lecturing to groups or giving individual advice. Perhaps the greatest single promotion factor is the number of pupils who frequent the Sacraments and devoutly assist at daily Mass.

Father Hrabovsky points out to Michael Mullane (left) and Paul Leddy (right) an area where missionary work is sorely needed.

Barbara Conkle, Ann Rushford and Mary McCarthy find some of their former classmates.

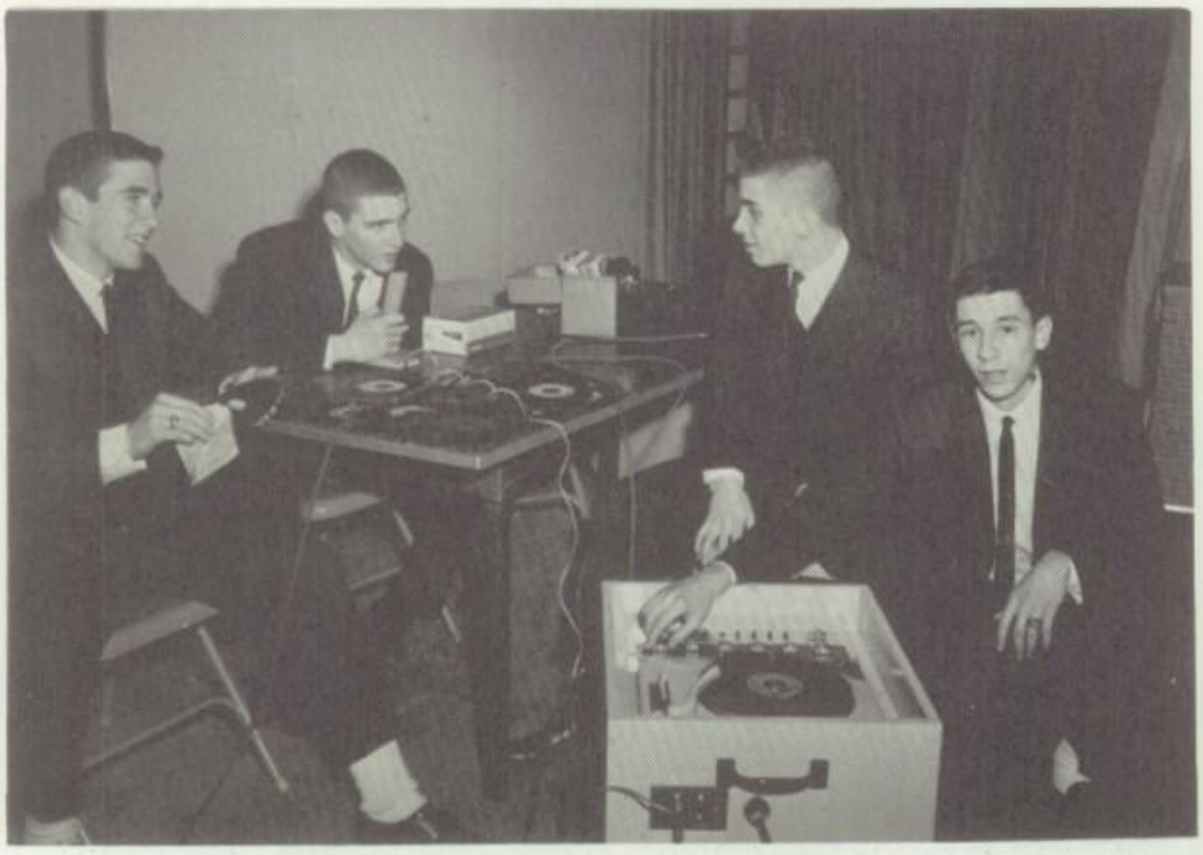
Social Activity

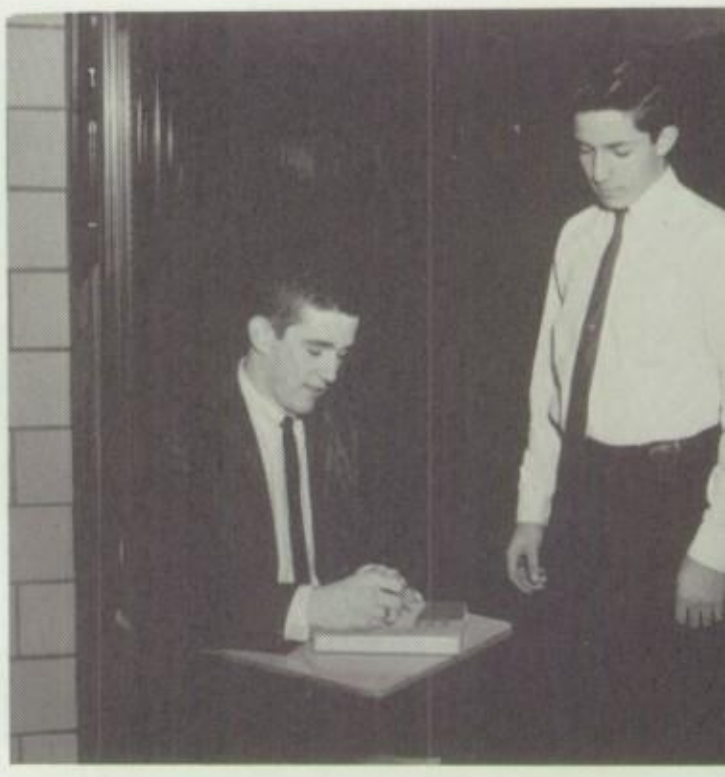
"Your Opinion, please."

Seniors Mark Hardwick, Thomas Rivard, James Smiley, and Ronald Cobb offer their able services to operate the school's hi-fi during the noon hour sock hops. This is due to the efforts of Father Seifen, who make them possible. The pupils are grateful to Father Seifen for procuring this recreation for them.



One of the principal duties of the Student Council members is to be alert to the problems, ideas and opinions of the student body.

Besides its usual control at class exchanges, and maintaining hall duty during class sessions, the council furthered good citizenship with the selection of the student of the month and a fifteen minute, weekly program entitled the "Voice of the Student Council."



Mark Hardwick signs a hall pass for sophomore, Frank Grech.

A Way of Life A Challenge to follow

The threefold aim of the sodality is personal holiness, sanctification of neighbor, and the defense of the Church. These goals offer a way of life that presents a great challenge and mortification to all of its members. Mary is the model in this great work and to be a sodalist means to try to think, judge, and act as Mary would.

The activities of the various homeroom sodality groups have been quite varied. Some of the more general were the preparation of Christmas baskets for those less fortunate than ourselves, attending interracial council meetings, soliciting prayers for the Holy Father at Christmas time, the promotion of Catholic Youth Week observances, conducting a poster contest for putting Christ back in Christmas, and attending the Training School of Social Action at the University of Detroit.

Pupils who serve beneath the Standard of Mary THE Legion of Mary

At the Legion's invitation, the Rev. Howard Rafferty, O. Carm. of The National Scapular Center of Downers Grove, Illinois, related the history and value of Our Lady's scapular.

Regina Bedsun and Sally Blaessar prepare brown scapulars for distribution. The Legion supplied the entire high school with these articles of devotion.

Father Maeberger's lecture alerts the student body to their obligation of forming Christian attitudes concerning interracial problems.

Students discuss individual questions after the assembly period.

INTERRACIAL CLUB dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal

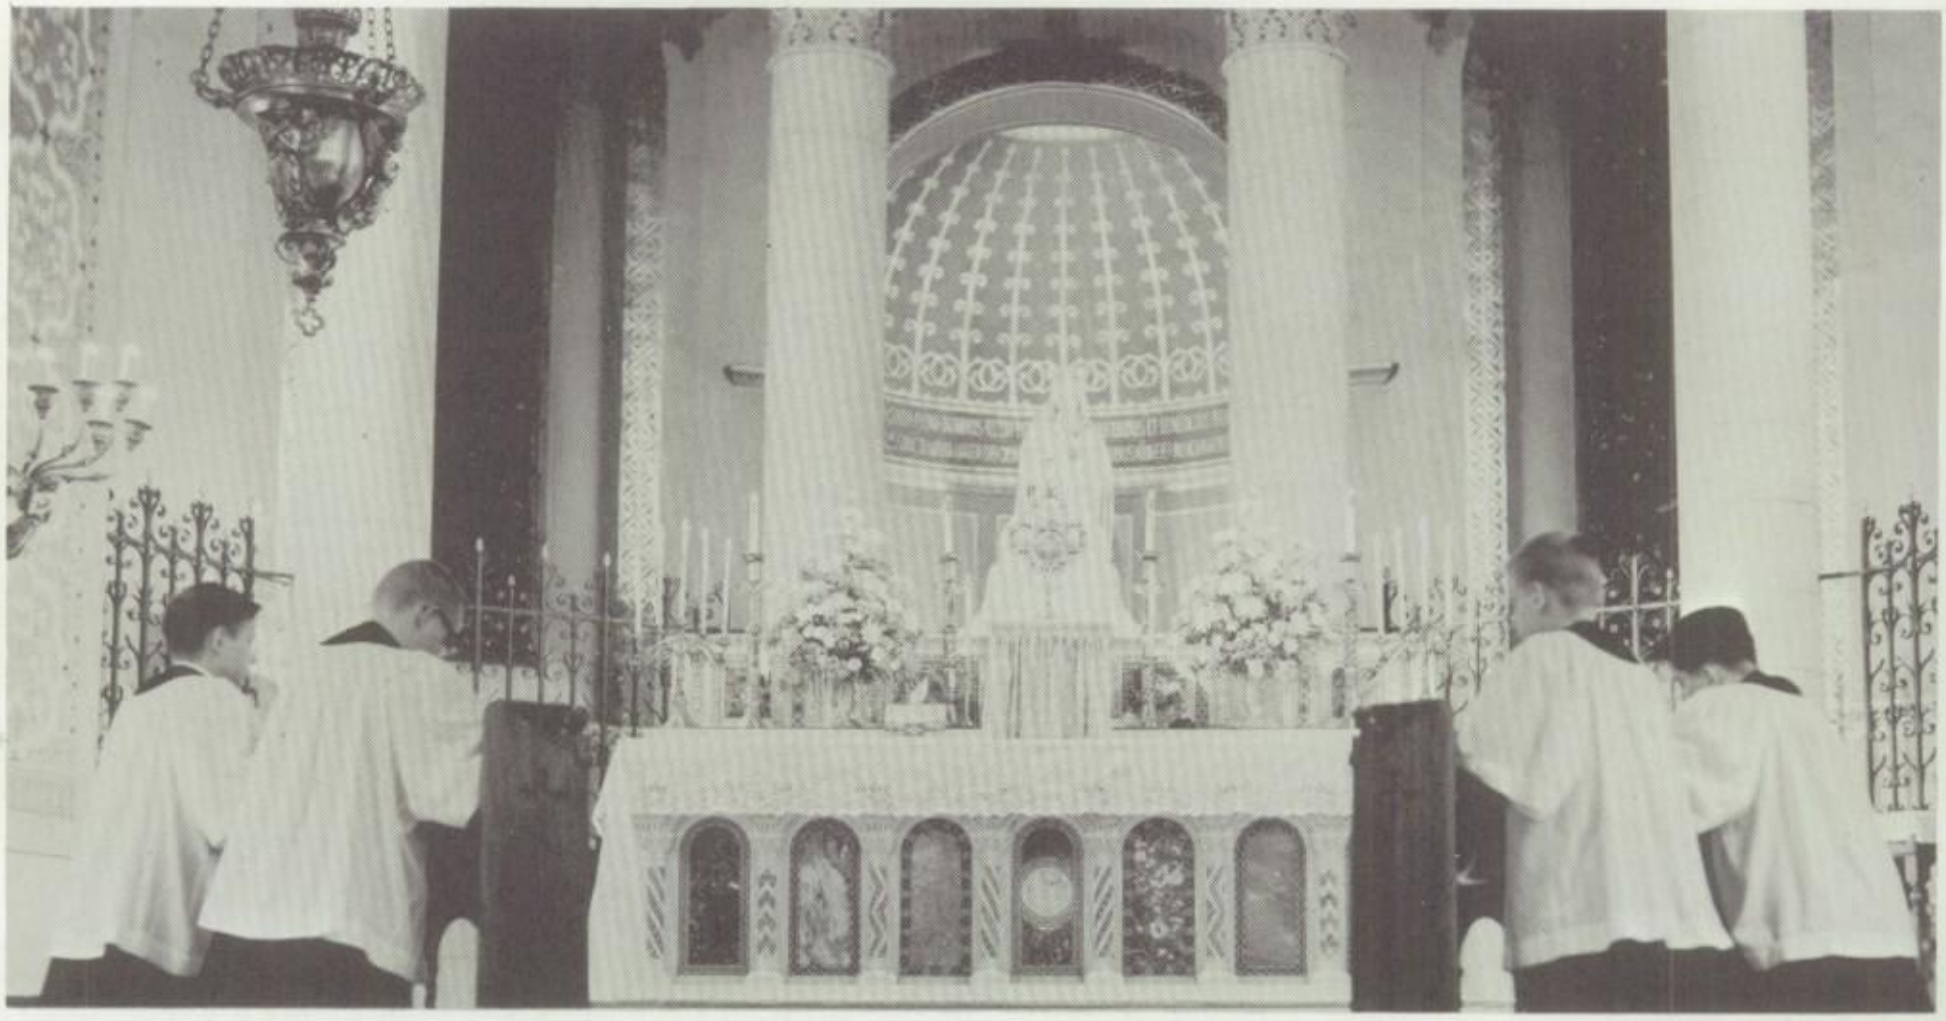
Patricia Torrey carries out her weekly Legion assignment of guidance clerk during Public School Instruction classes held every Monday afternoon. Sharon Fraley and Thomas Roman play the roll of a pair of newcomers.

Knights of the Altar–



"Praise God in His sanctuary

Praise Him on His sovereign throne."

Graduation day proves that serving at the altar is not the only function of the knights.

During the May procession the knights accompany the school into Church.

Neither snow, sleet, nor the cold of winter keep knights John Binder and Paul Marunich from their serving appointments.

But for such service there is some compensation. On a warm, sunny day in June, while their classmates are sweltering in hot, stuffy study halls, the boys board the busses and head for the woods.

Meeting the Needs of the NATION

FUTURE TEACHERS . . . Front Row: JoAnn McKenzie, Diana Adamo, Sharon Fitzpatrick, Patricia Connelly, Theresa Foley. Second Row: Michele LaForest, Betty Keast, Christine Gherman, Sandra Bartlett, Sally Blaesser, Susan McComas. Third Row: Diana Breault, Margaret Bynoe, Nancy Bauer, Evelyn Horen, Christine Kopiwoda, Mary Lou Wickowski. Fourth Row: Harriet Hartman, Barbara Buckley, Patricia Schnieder, Adelaide Micallef, Ruth Wyels, Eileen Connel, Marilyn Tomakich, Mary Jo Hooper.

Two organizations established at St. Mary's are devoted to careers of service. These are the Future Teachers' and Future Nurses' Clubs. They meet weekly and study the qualifications for the work chosen and its rewards. Many of the future teachers coach younger pupils or assist the regular faculty; while the nurses often find an outlet in Red Cross work.

Sandra Bartlett tutors Betty Bruske.

FUTURE NURSES . . . Nurse—Mrs. Richard Hogan R. N., Marie Breitenbeck, (President), Judith Fuller, Darlene Wayda, Theresa Foley. St. Mary's

wins recognition in

Junior Red Cross

Our Junior Red Cross Unit is to be congratulated for the award it received from the downtown office for outstanding work in several areas of Red Cross activities. Some of these activities were: a collection of soft toys for hospitals, a bake sale, international gift boxes and high school chest, an international art program, decorations for hospitals, working as chapter staff aides, parties for institutions, supervising collections and donations from homerooms, and taking part in the county-wide council.

in '62 . .

The Rustic spirit

at its best - -

Each year the Pep Squad does its best to forge and hold together active school pride. Throughout the football and basketball seasons the group fills the halls with posters that stimulate enthusiastic game attendance. Victory campaigns are conducted, when spirit lags.

Pacemakers for Sportsmanship.

As the quarterback leads the team, so the cheerleaders lead the crowd. The enthusiasm of the fans is largely a reflection of the spirit and enthusiasm of the cheerleaders. At a game, they are highly responsible for the good behavior of the rooters. Whether the trend of the game is good or bad, it is these girls who must exemplify true sportsmanship and the spirit of the school.

Whether we win or

Whether we lose

We salute the Rustics of '61

Water-skiers have something in common with football players: the knowledge that to every wave there is both crest and trough. Sometimes you ride the crest, but sooner or later, you'll sink in the trough.

This was St. Mary's off year — six wins and two losses. Critics always offer many reasons. Some claim over confidence; others, loss of too many valuable players due to injury and no trained replacements. (Larry Schwartz and Tom Rivard, two valuable seniors, were out all season.) But whatever the reason, it gave the student body a chance to practice what it chants so often at its pep meetings:

"Whether we win or whether we lose,
This is the cheer we'll always use:
Yeah St.Mary's!!!"

Champs

The excellent coaching of Coach Galante and the hard work of all of the boys on the team, added up to a basketball championship for St. Mary's in 1962.

This feat can be attributed to the efforts of both the coaches and players. Practice started last summer, with no let-up until the championship was theirs. But their work was well rewarded for their names are now added to the long line of St. Mary's Champions.

1962 Successful Swimming Season

Our swimming team is now three years old and beginning to take it's place among the established sports at St. Mary's. The caliber of our swimmers is shown by the teams they compete with and the scores they are able to maintain. Edward Dowd made All City in the diving events in '61 and from his performances this year, we hope he captures the title again in '62. Coach Tim O'Rourke, and Assistant Coach Don Brady, are to be congratulated.

Who's Who

A fan's eye view of the entire diamond can be seen from behind the backstop—the best seat in the house. From this position the enthusiastic fans catch all the fast moving action, while the "grandstand managers" call the plays as they see them.

The Scoreboard Tells Part of the Story

Though the Rusettes ended the season with a checkered record, three wins and four losses for the varsity and five wins and two losses for the reserves, we feel the girls are to be congratulated for their spirit and good sportsmanship. Due to conditions beyond their control, such as a necessary but over-crowded scheduling of the gym, they have not been able to engage in sufficient practice to reach the perfection demanded of a winning team. The scoreboard doesn't always tell the story.

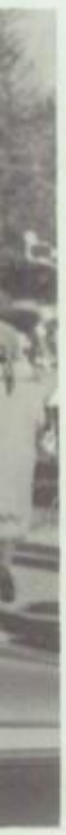
Special Events

One of the highlights of the day . . . crowning at half-time. The court includes Lynn O'Connor, Janet Heineman, Marianne Grace ('61 Queen), Patricia Paynick ('60 Queen), Shelly Niles, and Mary Newton.

HOMECOMING Fulfills a Tradition

The Blessed Mother holds her traditional place of honor.



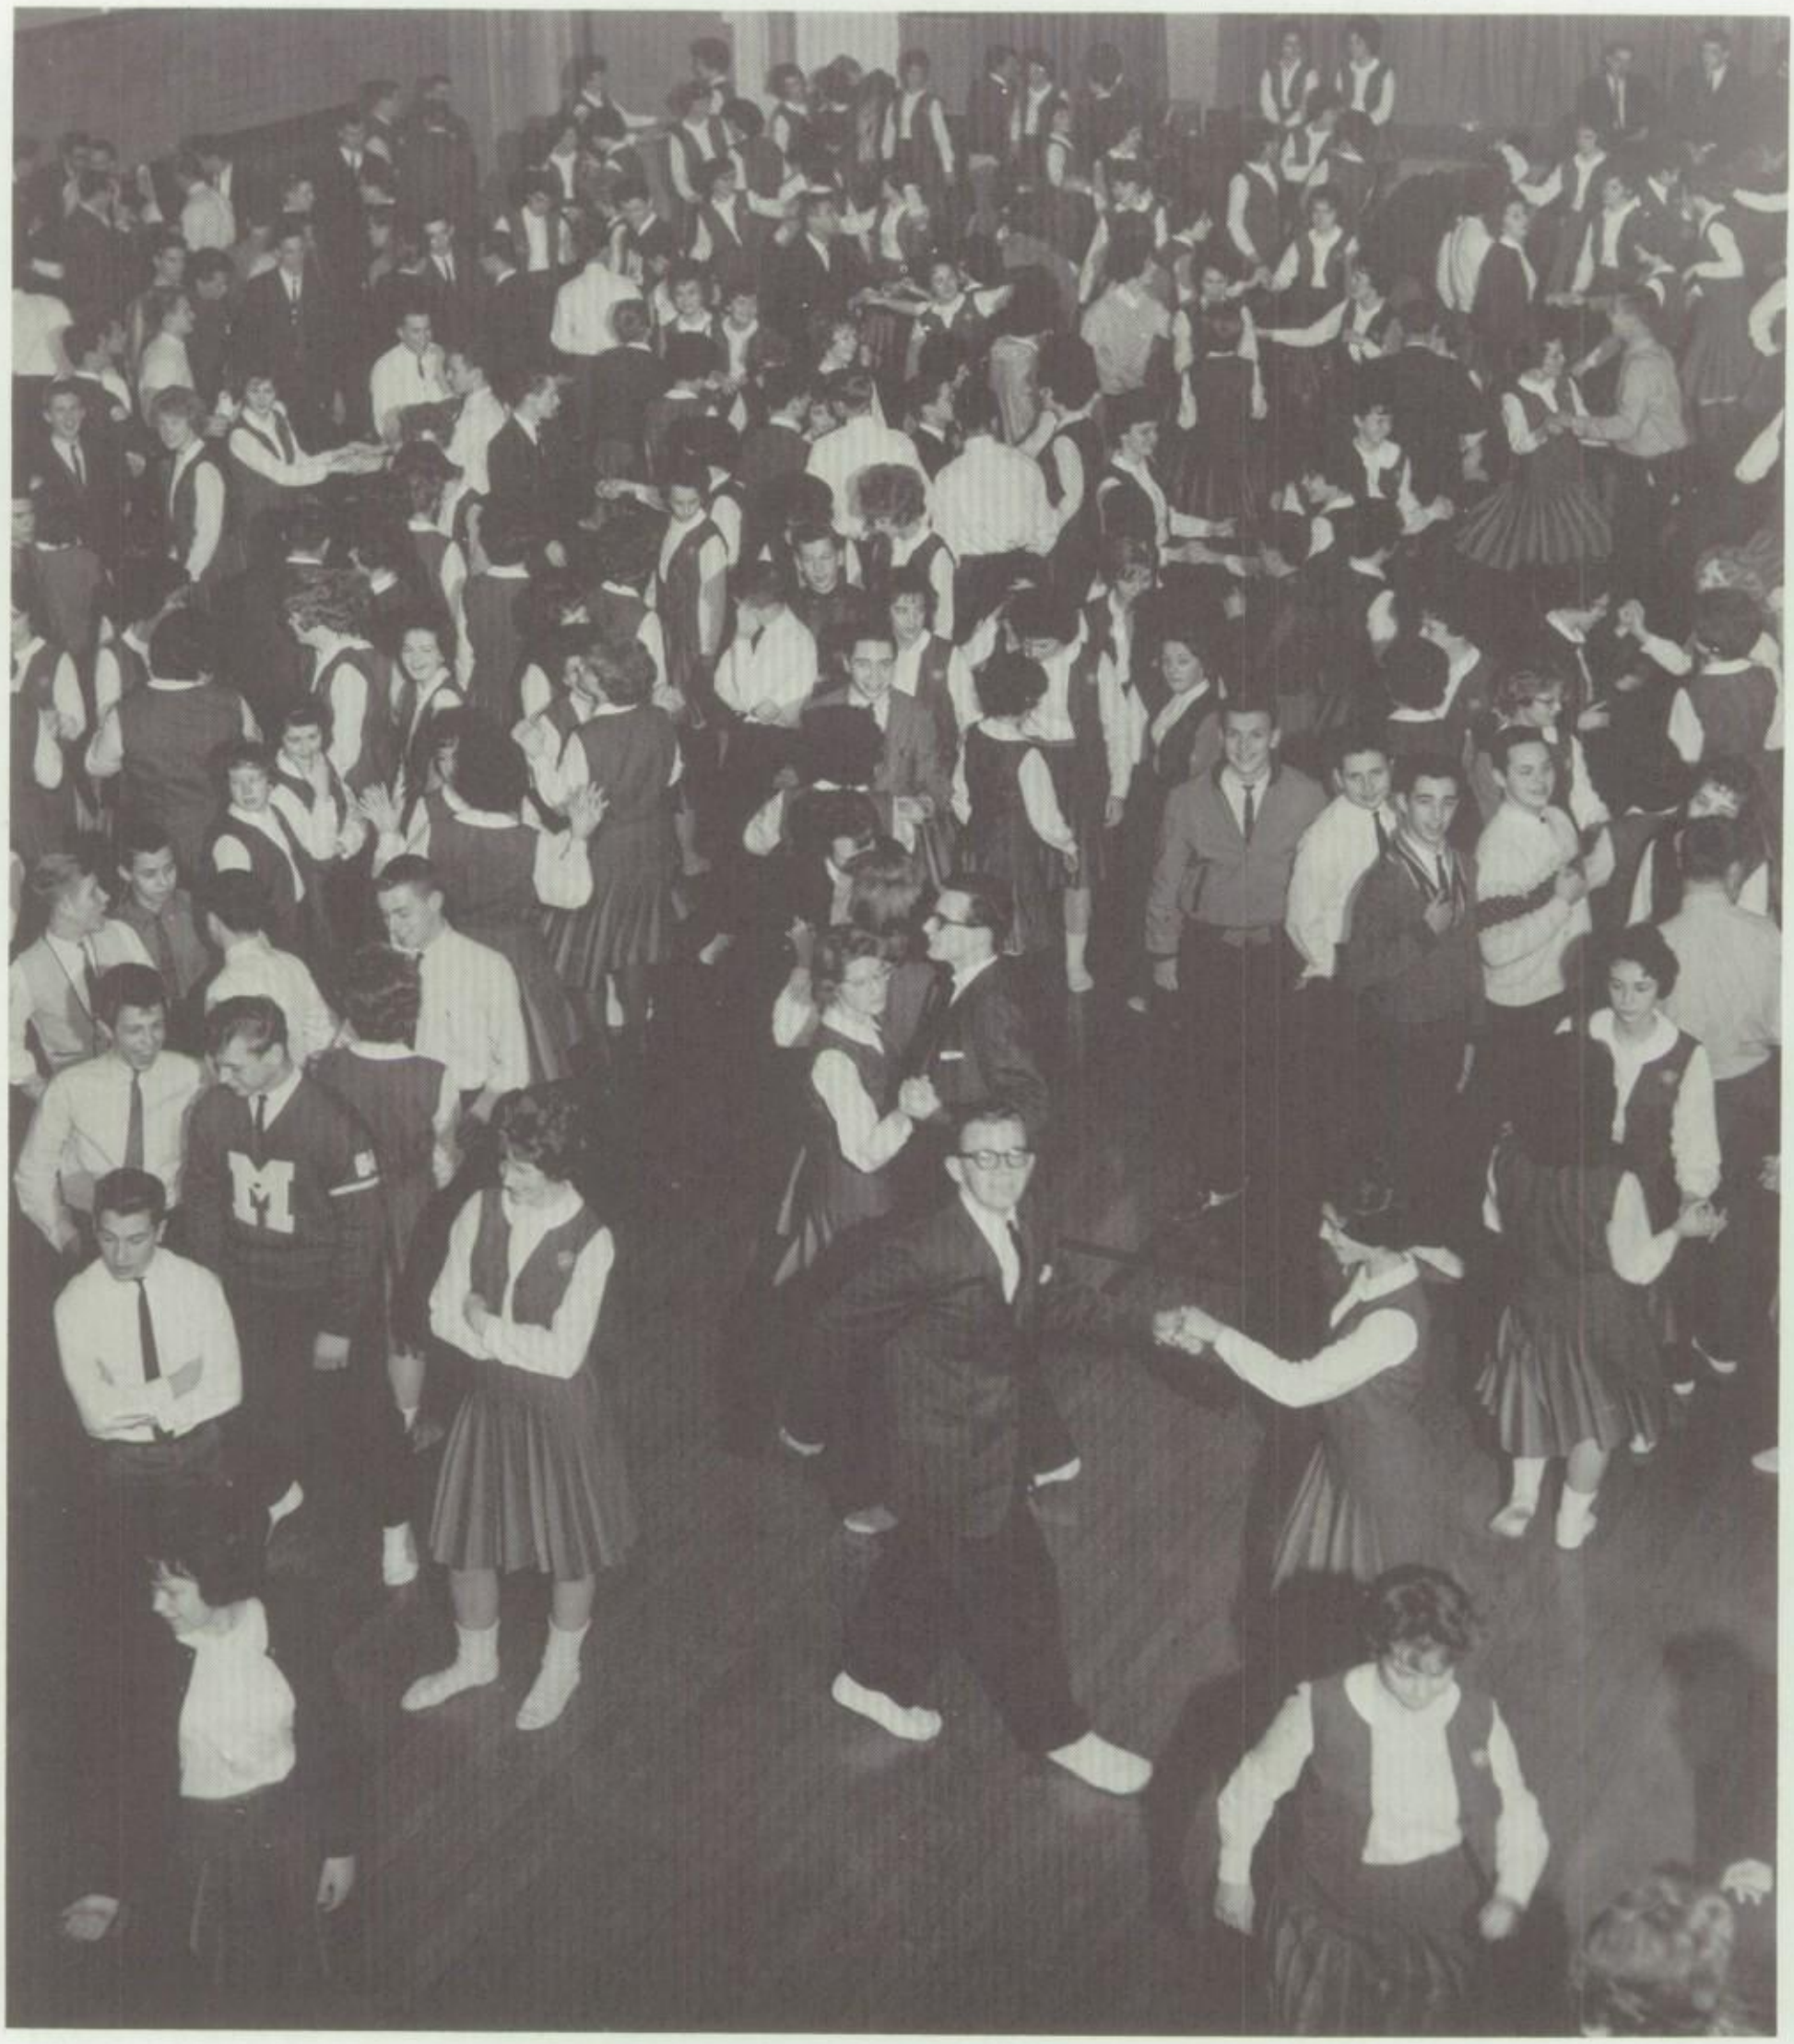
Loyal cheerleaders.

Our opponents will not soon forget St. Mary's mighty "Wolfpack."

Parents, students, and faculty-all are caught up in the exhilarating whirl of Homecoming Day.

. . . And the Records went Round

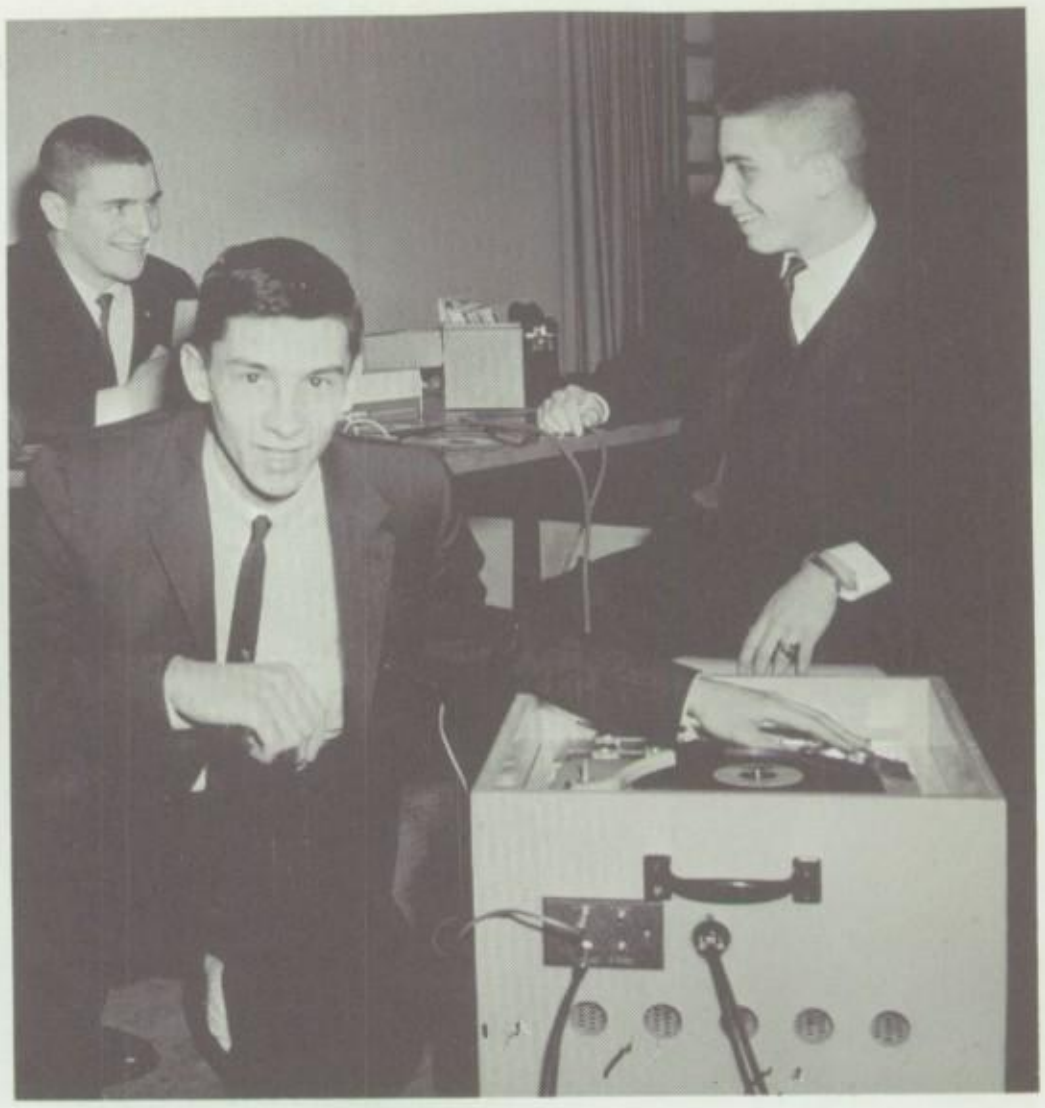
From the freshmen to the seniors, everyone enjoys the lively music and fun of the noon hour sock hops.



and Round

. . . and Round

Some pleasant moments.



What would a dance be without music and what would a noon be without a hi-fi? Tom Rivard, Ron Cobb, and Jim Smiley obligingly offer their services.

The chairmen of the Decoration Committee for the Senior Dance plan their procedure. Seated: Sharon Fitzpatrick, Ellen O'Regan Peter Coonen, John Binder, Sandra Bartlett, Patricia Whelan. Patricia VanDerworp. Standing: James LeBlanc, Eugene Johnson, Thomas Rivard, Daniel Florance, William Flowers.

With a deep sense of appreciation for the pledge they are reading, the senior girls comprehend the true meaning of their rings.

A very happy Kathryn Hoover receives her class ring from Monsignor Hickey as Junior class president Charles Haas looks on.

The day the Seniors came of age

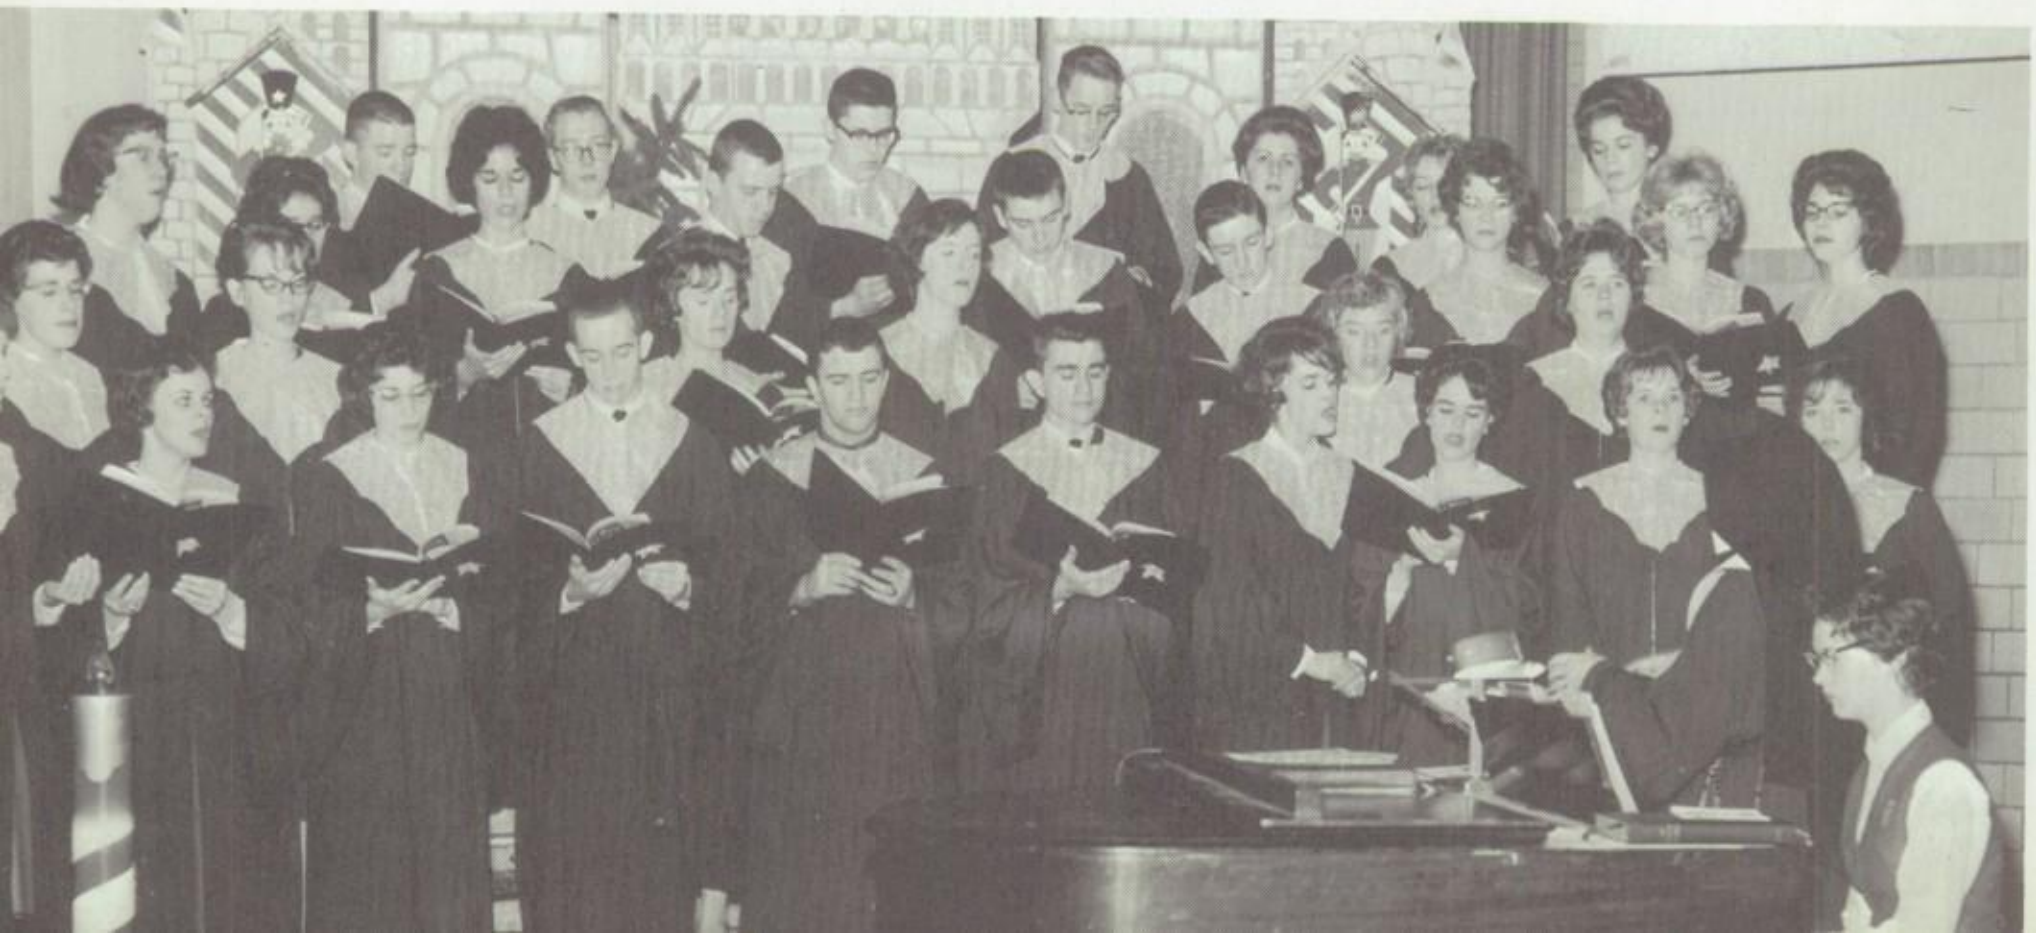
The seniors of '62 acquired that special "senior" feeling when they received their gold-crested rings on October 12th. The long months of waiting had finally come to an end and with pride they compared them with their classmates'. Now, at last they were "seniors".

The senior choral, under the direction of Sister Marie Clotilde, sang two appropriate songs, The Hallowed Halls of Ivy and I Believe.

The senior choral sang for the pleasure and enjoyment of all.



Enchanted Evening

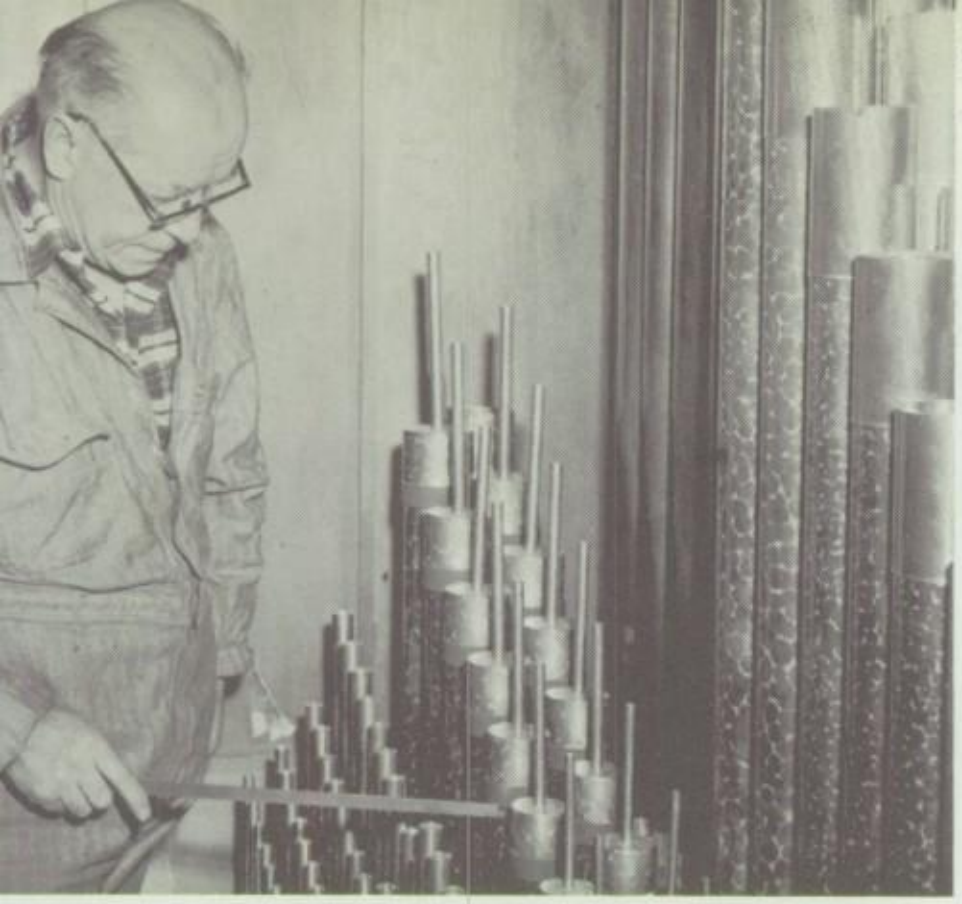
It arrived with all the splendor and elegance that only a prom can bring. The colorful reflections of swirling skirts and white tuxedos in crystal chandeliers were matched only by the rainbow itself. The night—April 3rd, 1961, the place—Lovett Hall, Greenfield Village, the music—the excitement—we can never forget those wonderful hours — all on an April evening.

With radiant faces and happy hearts, David Sporer, Monique vanTetering, Thomas Finger, and Hermina Sledzinski lead the Grand March.

The expressions of joy tell that everyone is having a good time.

Our class officers and their dates take time out to pose for a picture on the staircase.

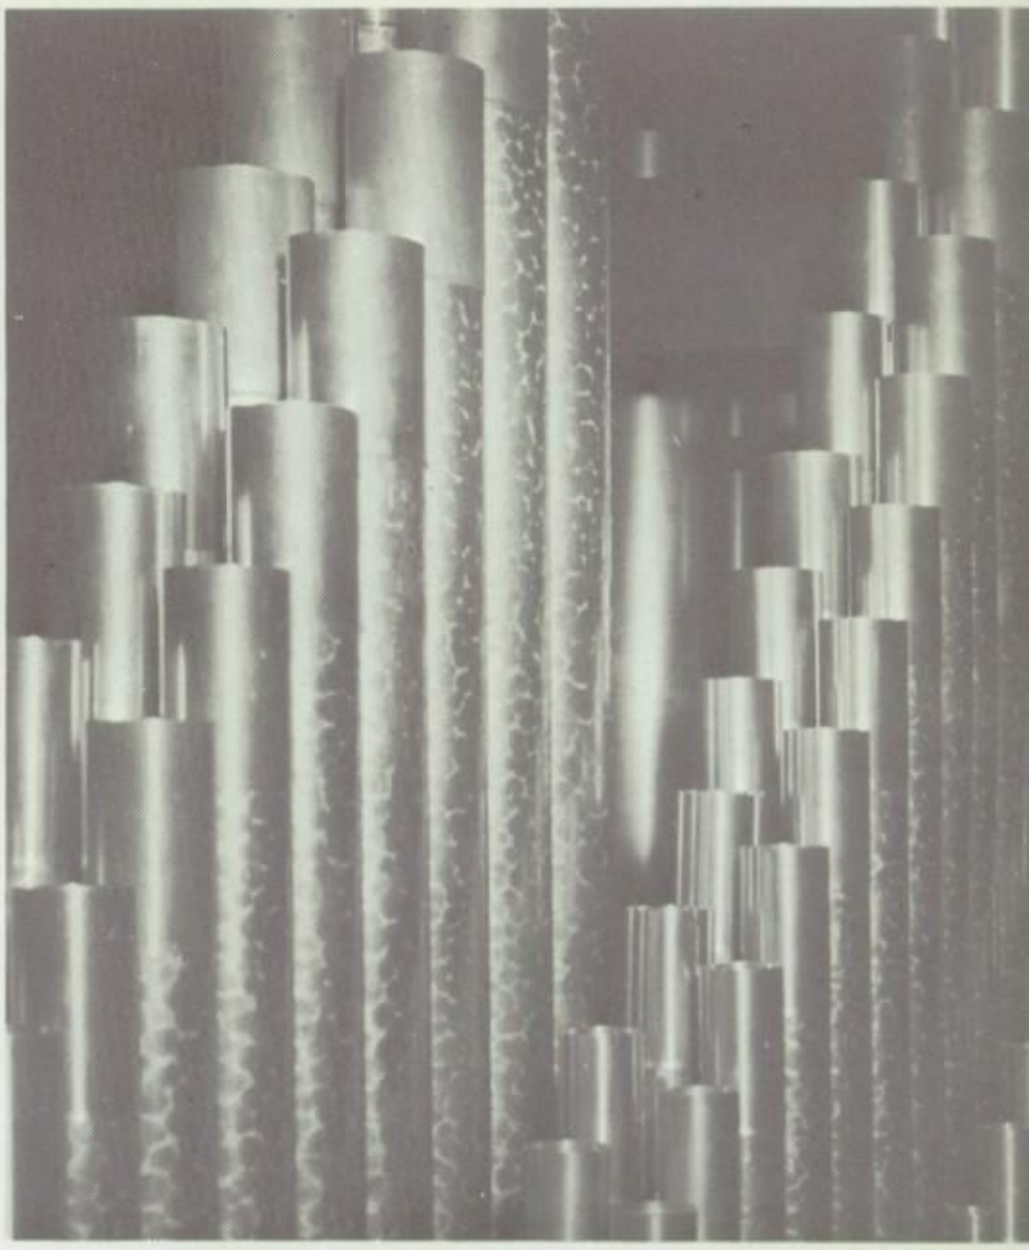
Pipe dream comes true



Meticulous care insures that every note played will be perfect.

Up in St. Mary's choir loft stands a new Casavant organ—row after row of delicately fashioned pipes, each capable of filling our church with its own melodious sound.

The organ's dedication was set for the first of April, Laetare Sunday. The liturgical theme of this day, one of rejoicing, made this choice very appropriate. Professor Van Doessel, organist at St. Aloysius, Detroit, was the guest artist invited for the occasion.



The gleaming pipes of our new organ as they solemnly await their first notes.

As the final touch in its installation, the organ is electronically tested.

St. Mary's is privileged to have Ernest Peeters as her very able organist.

Mother Frances Ellen, principal of the present St. Mary of Redford High School, represents the faculty at the ceremony.

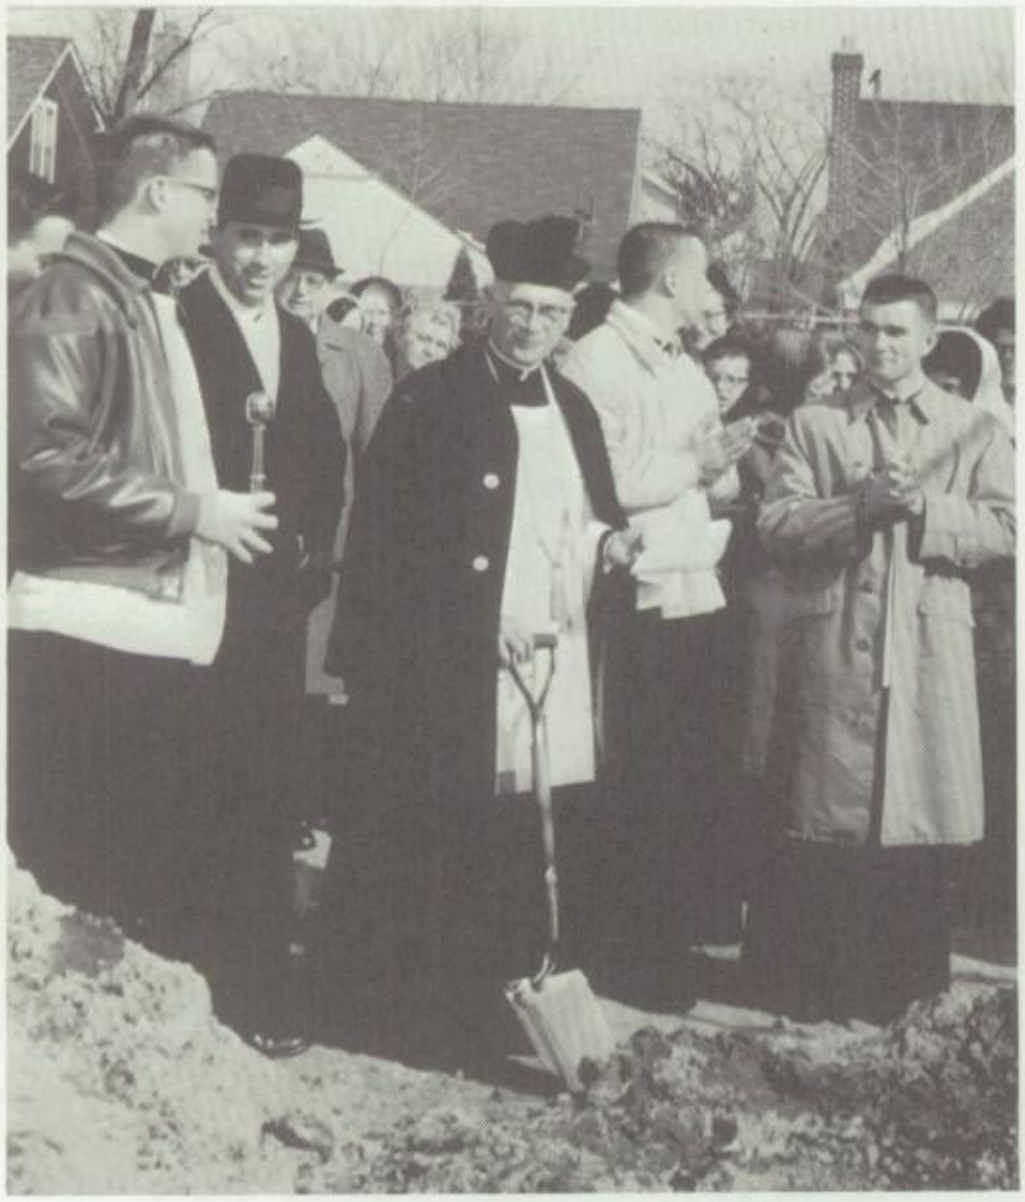
A ground-breaking ceremony, March 4, 1962 marked the official beginning of the new St. Mary of Redford High School. The two-story, L-shaped building will be located just north of the present gym and trade school. Designed by Giffels and Rossetti, a Detroit architectural firm, it will eventually house the senior, junior and sophomore classes; accommodating about 750 pupils. this expansion program is necessary to relieve the congestion in our present grade and high school. The first unit of thirteen rooms is scheduled for completion the spring of 1963.



In a few, well chosen words, Monsignor explains the purpose and great need of the new unit.

Since no good work, great or small, is begun without asking God's blessing upon it, Monsignor reads the prayer appropriate for a ground-breaking ceremony.

Everyone had a really good time

With enthusiasm ranging from Mark Hardwick's boyish glee to Bill Burroughs' apparent boredom, history students perch on a piece of tradition, an early-model fire wagon. We wonder what Dan Zinnikas is hiding beneath his outstretched coattail. Couldn't it be a sign heading, "Please do not climb on the engine"? Back Row: Dennis Hillen, Daniel Zinnikas, William Burroughs, James LeBlanc, and Richard DeVault.

American history teacher Mr. Galante, poses while on tour of the museum.

The History Class invades the Museum

Agnes Daly, Sharon Fitzpatrick, and Marlene Lipski supplement their study of tne "War Between the States" by studying documents of that era displayed at the museum.

The Story of the Burial that "Boomeranged"

Homecoming Day! — Everything was perfect - the weather - the crowd - the spirit - the queen and her court-the floats-but that is where my story fits in.

Having a St. Ambrose (opponent for that Sunday) funeral and burying them at half-time was Tim Gordon's brain child. The idea caught fire, and backed by several senior boys, the mock burial became a riotous reality. To say we had fun getting ready is putting it mildly. No detail was forgotten, flowers, gloves, spade, coffin, and parson (collar included). No biblical cortegē had better "wailing" mourners nor did their musicians play more mournful dirges. Even the famed "McNamara's Band" which specialized in "wakes and funerals" was not any better.

There was just one draw back — we lost, 21-6. It turned out to be our own funeral.

Members of the funeral procession include Bob Nold (gravedigger), Charles Stuart (mortician), Jim LeBlanc (pallbearer), John Cassin (corpse), Tim Gordon (priest), John Pelto (gravedigger), and Mr. Gordon (official chauffeur).

"Father" Gordon bestows a last blessing on the victim as mourners are moved to tears.

A funeral march is played as "bereaved friends" pay final respects to "Ambrose" Cassin.

The procession solemnly marches onto McCabe field, where the casket is placed for all to see.

The blood-stained hand of the beaten Cavalier can be seen as he is carried in front of the Rustic fans by his chief mourners.

It's fun to play — and fun to cheer, it's fun, just to belong.
